

NWRL SERVICE TO SCHOOLS

The Northwest Regional Library honors student requests for materials. The NWRL collection is designed, however, to serve the general public. As such, it supplements rather than supports the school curriculum. Thus, students are encouraged to use their school library as their primary source for materials and the public library as a secondary source.

All materials checked out of NWRL libraries are charged to an individual library card. NWRL cannot supply public library materials for classroom or school library use. Materials located on the Aurora database may be interlibrary loaned through the NLLN delivery service.
